Clarifier Plant Will Move; Greenkill Factory Is Sold

Emerick's Alleys Will Be Moved

Jersey Alleys Buy Local Equipment; Will Install Machines

The well known Emerick bowling alleys at 482 Albany avenue will be moved out some time this week to make room for the machinery of the "Good-Fit" Shoe Company which is moving its plant from Brooklyn to Kingston. It is expected the alleys will be taken off and moved by truck to New Jersey where they have been purchased by the Midway alleys. The same trucks which have been used to bring the shoe company machinery back to Kingston for installation, Joseph F. Saccoman, real estate broker who negotiated the transaction, stated Saturday. Mr. Saccoman said the lease for the Emerick building had been negotiated and an agreement had been reached to sign it, but because of illness of Fred Braunswitz, manager, who recently underwent an operation, the lease will be signed and mailed back. Once the alleys are out the work of laying concrete floors and installation of electric lines will be taken up.

Mr. Hirsch, who will be in charge of the local plant will reach Kingston some time this week and Mr. Braunswitz will come to Kingston as soon as possible after discharge from the hospital. President Reina of the Chamber of Commerce informed Mr. Saccoman on Saturday that under the G. I. Bill of Rights the government will pay returned veterans who desire to enter the employ of the concern as apprentice workers, an additional $9 a week while learning under the "on the job" training provision of the bill. This will make a total wage of $35 a week for veterans who desire to learn the shoe trade.

Warns Against Inflation

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 17 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Miles E. Heston, warning against inflation, said Pennsylvania farm land prices have increased in value 45 per cent compared with the pre-war 1933-39 average. Heston said the 1939 mark since there is evidence that the tendency to pay excessive prices is decreasing.

Would Buy 5,000 Huts

New York, Dec. 17 (AP)—Purchase of 5,000 Quonset huts at a cost of $25,000,000 to help relieve New York's housing shortage has been recommended by Mayor William O'Dwyer's emergency committee on housing. The huts were used by the armed forces during the war and the committee recommended the city buy them from government surplus. They are 20 by 48 feet and are suggested that each hut be divided into two apartments so that the cost would be $2,500 a family.

New Industry Will Come Here, Saccoman Says; Roller Rink Is Purchased

The W.G.B. Oil Clarifier, Inc., factory plant located at 100 Greenkill avenue and the adjoining residence property has been purchased by Joseph Saccoman, Fair street real estate broker, who on Saturday announced that within a few weeks he would be in a position to announce a new industry for Kingston. Mr. Saccoman said he had purchased the residence property adjoining the two story factory building in order to have more land available for expansion of the factory plant. No announcement of the type of business which may locate in the Greenkill avenue plant was made.

Late Bulletin

Washington, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Supreme Court today granted a stay of execution to Japanese General Tomoyuki Yamashita, who was sentenced to death by an American military commission in Manila.

Fact-Finding Is Started In Oil Industry's Dispute

Washington, Dec. 17 (AP)—Government fact-finding—temporarily shelved by Congress, bitterly opposed by labor and coolly regarded by management—gets underway today in the oil industry's wage dispute. The General Motors strike is next in line.

As a guide for fact-finding, the oil panel will share attention with another beginning Wednesday. At that time, the G.M. board will hold its first session with officials of the strike-bound corporation and the C.I.O.-United Automobile Workers.

Plans Made For Defense Over Arctic

Wastelands Are Held As Potential Area for Attacks From Asia, Europe

Six Assigned American and Canadian Observers Will Make Exploration

Washington, Dec. 17 (AP)—Mindful of atomic age possibilities, the United States and Canada are beginning to work out joint plans to defend North America against any attack from Asia or Europe across the north polar regions.

Disclosing this today, Allied diplomatic officials said one of the first specific steps taken by this country was the assignment of six observers to accompany a Canadian army-airforce expedition on an 81-day Arctic exploration.

Assigned the task of gathering military and scientific information, this expedition has been designated officially "exercise mush-o-x" by the Canadian government. It will cover 3,100 miles through territory which heretofore has been considered an impenetrable barrier against attack.

Now, diplomats say, the wasteland area is regarded as one of the potential approaches to some of America's most vital cities.

Veterans Will Open Sporting Goods Store

The Potter brothers, John H. and Basil, two war veterans, have announced that they will open a sporting goods store at 294 Fair street as soon as improvements to the building are completed.

Jack and Bud as the two were known when they earned their football letters at Kingston High School, enlisted in the army on December 3, 1942. Jack fought with the 100th Infantry and Bud with the First Infantry in Europe.

Basil Potter, a resident of Port Jervis, has been honorably discharged from the army. John, whose home is at 243 Washington avenue, is still a patient in Hel-Jordan General Hospital, S. I.

Kaiser-Frazier Corporation Is Latest Union Objective; Ford Offer Is Anticipated

Prosecutors Ask 600,000 Be Convicted as Criminals

Council Will Hold Special Meeting On Local Housing

A special meeting of the Common Council to consider the housing situation in Kingston has been called by five of the Republican members of the city's legislative body for Tuesday evening at the city hall at 7:30 o'clock.

The call states that the meeting is called "to consider and take such action as may seem appropriate to cope with the housing shortage and to request the mayor and corporation counsel to draft such legislation as may be necessary, and to pass such resolutions with respect to a Housing Authority as may be proper in the premises, and to consider particularly the request of the Chamber of Commerce for a State Public Housing Authority, and to take any action as may be appropriate."

Another matter to be taken up at the special meeting is to include in the salary increments under the jurisdiction of the Common Council who have so far been inadvertently unprovided for.

Buffalo Undergoes Emergency; Gets 48-Inch Snowfall

(By The Associated Press)
A blizzard from Lake Erie deposited up to 48 inches of snow on Buffalo, N. Y., causing a state of emergency to be proclaimed there, as a large part of the country shivered today in frigid weather.

Mayor Joseph J. Kelly of Buffalo ordered schools and most city offices closed, limited telephone use to keep lines open for emergency calls, and asked citizens to stay home and guard against fires. Within a 51-hour period, 48 inches of snow fell in south Buffalo and 30 inches in the downtown district.

Too Many Tracks, Trolley Gets Lost

Atlantic, Dec. 17 (AP)—The tired shoppers got aboard the trolley, their Christmas bundles piled high, in time to get home for 6 o'clock supper.

The clerk who helped to pile those bundles got on the trolley too.

Then came an intersection. The trolley went west instead of east. Then later it went north. That was the way the tracks went. There were no other tracks.

Presently the motorist admitted he was lost. The passengers had realized this for some time.

So he pulled into the car barn, a little farther on. Then trolley officials told him there was nothing to do but to go back downtown.

When he got downtown a trolley supervisor boarded the car and took the passengers home.

Konoye's Suicide Might Bring Big Changes in Japan

Prince's Self-Destruction Might Cause Emperor's Resignation; Kido Surrenders

Tokyo, Dec. 17 (AP)—Prince Fumimaro Konoye's dramatic suicide yesterday—a new and powerful blow to the prestige and position of Emperor Hirohito—may have profound repercussions in the Imperial household as well as in political circles.

The Prince himself, in his final hours, expressed concern for the future of the Imperial house as discussions of possible abdication were revived. Some Japanese said the suicide might be the final factor in precipitating the Emperor's resignation.

Doubtless, Hirohito personally felt the blow deeply. Konoye long was his close confidante and it generally was believed the Mikado placed great authority in "the dangerous Prince."

Konoye's death was a swift, parallel blow to General MacArthur's recent directive against Shinto. That directive struck deeply at Hirohito. Before that, the wide-spread network of MacArthur's war criminal lists had stripped from around the throne all but two of the principal and still active court advisors in the tragedy of the past 15 years.

The Prince himself, in his final hours, expressed concern for the future of the Imperial house as discussions of possible abdication were revived. Some Japanese said the suicide might be the final factor in precipitating the Emperor's resignation.

It may have been with design, then, that a few days ago newspapers suddenly blossomed anew with stories about Crown Prince Akihito, whose twelfth birthday is December 23.

After the surrender, all of the Tokyo press carried stories about the Crown Prince. It is known now.

Strike of General Motors Plants Enters Its 26th Day; Ford Cites Parts Shortage

Will Make Bid Kaiser Firm Will Make Demand for Some Sort of Security

Detroit, Dec. 17 (AP)—The C.I.O. United Auto Workers' wage battle raged on three fronts today as the newly-formed Kaiser-Frazier Corp. became the union's latest objective.

While awaiting a pay offer from the Ford Motor Co. and carrying its strike against General Motors into the 26th day, the union called on its International President R. J. Thomas, to lead the first conference with Kaiser-Frazier officials this afternoon.

About the same time other leaders were to go back into separate huddles with two of the industry's big three—Ford and General Motors—both of which have rejected the union's 30 per cent wage demand.

The new firm, planning to build two lines of cars in the Willow Run bomber plant, reportedly will demand some kind of guarantee against unauthorized strikes before making known its proposed wage rates.

Speculation that Ford would come up soon with a wage offer has mounted steadily since a union plan for such a purpose was commended by Ford officials last week.

The plan, not yet formally accepted by the company, would subject inspectors of wildcat strikes in Ford plants to discharge and participants to fines of $3 to $5 a day.

Leaving the union's pay hopes, however, was a Ford statement last night that the company will have produced only 30,000 of the 80,000 cars it had promised by Christmas.

Asserting "the American people should know why" the goal will not be reached, Henry Ford II, president, said the company's production was "limping instead of galloping along because of insufficient supplies—parts and materials."

This situation definitely is not the fault of our employees," he declared. "Since V-J Day we have not had a single unauthorized work stoppage."

The company, he said, has been completely cut off by 14 major suppliers and is getting "a mere trickle" of parts from many others. He listed strikes, price ceilings and a loss of workers because of wage stabilization as the suppliers' major difficulties.

Police Break Lines
Flint, Mich., Dec. 17 (AP)—A squad of police, formed in a flying wedge, charged through a picket line at a strike-bound General Motors Corp. plant here today but no violence was reported.

The officers, led by Capt. Gus Hawkins of the Flint police, forced their way through the main gate at GM's AC Spark Plug Division here after pickets had refused to permit them to escort office workers into the plant.

Some 30 office workers, part of a group of 700 instructed to report for work this morning, followed the police into the administration building.

Others filtered through the gate after the pickets, members of the C.I.O. United Automobile Workers, made no attempt to mend their lines.

An estimated 30 officers took part in the charge. After their line was broken, the pickets sent out a call for "reserves" and scheduled an immediate city-wide strike strategy committee meeting.

Approximately 150 office personnel had passed through the main gate within an hour after police had led the way.

An estimated 30 officers took part in the charge. After General Motors directed its office workers in several Michigan cities to enter the struck plants today, the Flint C.I.O. called for reinforced picket lines and threatened that such action would be resisted.

Police promptly replied that they were "going to enforce the law" and would escort any office workers desiring admittance to the plants.

Truman Holds Sino Upset Affects All United Nations

Washington, Dec. 17 (AP)—The United States appears today to have embraced the belief that under certain conditions any nation's internal affairs become the business of all nations.

President Truman applied that principle to strife-torn China in his policy declaration Saturday, and government officials said this country soon might join others in applying it to Spain and Argentina.

With ratification of the United Nations Charter, the United States accepted the principle of collective action to prevent or stop international wars. Traditionally, however, the country has held that a nation's internal troubles were strictly its own business.

Mr. Truman moved some distance away from that position in his 1,200-word directive to Gen. George C. Marshall, his special envoy to China.

The President observed that "a breach of peace anywhere in the world threatens the peace everywhere."

Poughkeepsie Lowers Rate

Poughkeepsie's 1946 tax rate will be $29 per thousand of assessed valuation, a decrease of 14 cents under the 1945 rate of $33.54, it was stated Friday when the new county rate against the city was fixed at $5.24 per thousand. Decrease of nine cents from the 1945 rate to $23.30 per thousand.

Six Bus Riders Overcome by Fumes

East Orange, N. J., Dec. 17 (AP)—Six Westchester County, N. Y.,

passengers aboard a special bus owned by the Scarsdale Bus Company of Tuckahoe, N. Y., were overcome by carbon monoxide fumes, police said last night. Police said the driver, Joe Lam-zett of 151 Sommerfield street, Scarsdale, N. Y., when he noticed the condition of his passengers, stopped the bus at Main and Ashland avenues and called for help. Police and fire department emergency squads gave first aid and all were able to continue on their way. Those treated were: Pamela Coleman, 23, 41 Belknap avenue; Maria Barrett, 19, 16 Fullerton avenue; Lillian Gill, 15, 19 Irving place; Willet Poag, 17, 27 Willow street; and Ruth Bey, 15, 43 Ravine avenue, all Yonkers; and Virginia Scar, 15, 413 South Seventh avenue, Mount Vernon.

Soldiers Are Injured

Chicago, Dec. 17 (AP)—An investigation was underway today to determine the cause of a troop train accident on Chicago's northwest side last night that hospitalized eight soldiers and slightly injured 22 others. Two Diesel locomotives, operating as a unit, crashed into the rear of a Chicago and North Western railroad troop train, which had slowed down for a signal, railroad spokesman said. None of the 11 cars of the troop train, en route from Camp Stone-man, Calif., to Fort Sheridan, Ill., was derailed.

ROOSEVELT PARK

A resident of the Roosevelt Park section of the city in a letter published in Saturday's issue of The Freeman asked consideration of the city authorities for people living in that section.

We believe that the residents of the Roosevelt Park section of the city are entitled to consideration.

The urgency for the adequate repair of our streets and the alleviation of the flood water conditions in Roosevelt Park have been brought to the attention of the authorities before. But as Mr. Schultz has stated nothing has been done about it.

As pointed out by Mr. Schultz the Roosevelt Park section is a good investment for the city and deserves a little attention. In this we also concur.

As we have stated before streets, water, transportation, sanitation, lighting and housing cannot be neglected if a community is to move ahead. And all sections should be considered and no section should be ignored.

CIVIC RESPONSIBILITY

A public hearing on the tentative budget for the City of Kingston will be held shortly after Christmas, it has been announced.

This public hearing will afford taxpayers an opportunity to discuss the proposed estimates on which will be based the taxes on their homes, which they will have to pay.

If the taxpayers are not interested sufficiently to attend the hearing, they will convey the feeling that nobody cares what the estimates are or how much the tax rates are going to be.

A public official should welcome the interest of taxpayers. If he doesn't seek the stimulating contact with citizens he has no more right to his job than a school teacher who doesn't like pupils, or a salesman who doesn't like customers.

GERMAN LESSONS

The greatest value in wars, perhaps—where there is any value in them—is learning sound lessons from them. But if we may judge by Baukhage, one of the ablest of American war commentators, we Americans have learned little from our bitter and costly war against Germany, and the Germans have learned less. He has been observing the trial of our foremost enemies in Germany, and what does he see?

Several of the leaders of that evil brood are not ashamed of their crimes at all. They sit in court and jeer at the prosecutors. And when sober and responsible men declare that "civilization itself is on trial," many of the German people laugh and treat it all as a good joke.

Fortunately those on trial seem to grow a little more serious as it draws near its close. But what a pose, and what a nation, that so long held half the world in its grip and is not yet repentant or subdued! As for us, shall we learn to prepare for a safer future by keeping our powder dry, our training keen and timely, by uniting with other strong nations to keep the peace?

BOMB JOBS

What shall be done with the atomic bomb is one of the main problems to be discussed by the "Big Three" nations—Britain, America and Russia—soon to meet in Moscow. It was avoided in the last meeting, but evidently will have to be faced and disposed of now, if possible, in some reasonable and international way.

This weapon suggests some superman like the famous John L. Sullivan, prize ring hero of the last generation and all-time fistie champion of the world. It is tremendous, however, not in size but in potency, and seems to be the most powerful weapon of all time. We of the Allied nations won the recent war by its use, and have plenty of copies laid away safely against a time when they may be needed. Every sane and decent American hopes that they will never have to be used again in combat.

But if not for war, what purpose can they serve? Presumably they can be used some, what as we now use gunpowder and dynamite.

'These Days'

By George E. Sokolsky

THE STEEL STRIKE

Obviously a strike announced on December 11 to be called on January 14 is not intended to take place. In a word, Philip Murray starts out with an offer to settle. The reason that he sets the date at January 14 instead of January 1 is that he prefers not to indicate that he accepts John L. Lewis' dictum that whoever strikes under conditions obtaining prior to January 1, 1946, is a stupid fool. To have struck on, let us say, January 2 would have been tacit agreement with Big John. What Murray wants is not a steel strike but a $2.00 a day rise, or even a $1.00 a day rise or any rise to prove to his dues-payers that he can get as much for them as anybody can get for anybody. But even more, he lives in terror that the automobile strike settlement will open the way for John L. Lewis to steel Phil Murray's union. Obviously, if Phil Murray loses the steel union to Lewis, the C.I.O. is destroyed. This is essentially a private war between Lewis and Murray.

On the other hand, suppose the automobile strike is settled and the steel strike is called, then automobile workers are out of work because they have no steel. That faces them almost beyond relief because in that case they are out of work without a strike which the men will not like, since the auto strike will cost them about $30,000,000 in wages, anyhow. Therefore, if Phil Murray is not to start a revolt in the C.I.O., he must win his steel strike by settlement simultaneously with the settlement of the auto strike, which is scheduled to happen at about the end of the year on a basis that will give both sides a claim to victory, depending upon which way the statistics are read. The guess is that the auto workers will get a 15 per cent increase over the 1945 base pay, which can be made to look like 30 per cent, if another year is taken—say 1941—for calculation.

But Phil Murray may not be in luck for steel prices are at this moment profitless on the overall picture. This is the fault neither of management nor the unions but is due to the obduracy of the O.P.A. In fact, even the O.P.A. is not wholly to blame but the curious administrative concepts of President Truman, who delegates one bureau to handle wages and another prices and never the twin shall meet. The result is that, now the war is over so far as orders are concerned but not over so far as controls are concerned, steel cannot be produced at cost, much less a profit. Therefore, a company can save money by not producing steel.

The steel people say that they got $3.53 a ton less for steel now than in 1937, while wages have risen 34 per cent between January, 1941, and August, 1945. And although the C.I.O. denounces all these figures as false, the fact remains that no steel company is anxious to produce steel at current prices.

Phil Murray is up against that cold fact. His hope, as a labor politician, is that the O.P.A. will become sufficiently flexible to find a formula that will make the steel industry profitable again so that he can produce a victory for his union. For he knows what every labor leader knows: That management does not care how high wages go so long as the rise does not involve producing unprofitably.

A profit does not exist until it is paid to the investor, for a profit is nothing but compensation for the use of tools purchased by money invested in the business. Much of the so-called profit, namely the surplus value produced not by labor but by the machine, must go into the shifts from war to peace production and into protection against the inevitable deflation after a postwar boom.

So Phil Murray gives notice that the steel industry has a month's time to get things fixed up. Industry's view is no, likewise no waste; that is, if prices are unprofitable, goods will not be made. The next move is Chester Bowles.

PREPAREDNESS FOR WAR OR PEACE

For years insurance companies have been giving their policy holders a periodic physical examination free, the examination being made by their family physician or other physician. This is not only good life insurance but good health insurance also, as the early discovery of a disease, especially dangerous diseases such as heart disease, tuberculosis, cancer and others, means a cure may be obtained in most cases and life prolonged for many years in others. Such simple health habits as sound sleep, proper exercise, and nourishing foods make all the difference between feeling fit for your daily work or unfit.

A great deal was said and heard about physical fitness during the war for the armed forces and also the civilian population. Now that the war is over it is good sense for us all to keep fit by having a periodic physical examination and the learning of good health habits as to rest, food and exercise.

Dr. Eugene L. Fisk who has had more to do with periodic health examinations than perhaps any other one physician has this to say about preparedness from the standpoint of health and fitness.

Who knows what we are facing as a nation in the years to come? One thing we do know — there is a struggle for existence and the nation that is physically sound at the core is the nation that will hand down its civilization to the centuries. To study where we are weak, to study how we can make each generation a little better than the preceding one, instead of drifting with the tide and trusting to luck that we shall not meet the destructive fate of all previous civilizations: to find out the facts about ourselves and our children and proceed to do our duty by our bodies and theirs by applying the lessons of science in the art of living; to accumulate health and vitality instead of disease and degeneration — these things I look on as simple elementary measures in preparation for either war or peace.

mite, but in ways far more tremendous. Railroad construction, for example, might find the atomic bombs, when deftly handled, useful for blasting hills out of the way.

The next war we get into—if any—we hope will be able to avoid the usual post-bellum wrangling.

"At Century's Turn"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Amos Van Elten, for years a well known lawyer of this city, was re-elected president of the Ulster County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, at the annual meeting held on February 28, 1923. He had served continuously as president of the organization since 1909.

Other officers elected that night were Walter P. Crane, vice president; Dr. John A. Huhne, veterinarian; DeWitt Roosa, treasurer; and Miss Sara A. Johnson, secretary.

The society was first organized in 1892 with Col. John McEntee as president. Later he was succeeded by County Judge Charles F. Cantine, who was succeeded by Judge Van Elten.

The directors elected were Amos Van Elten, Mrs. George Coykendall, Mrs. Francis J. Higginson, Mrs. John W. Rode, Mrs. John Hauck, George C. Wolven, Dr. John H. Huhne, William C. Shaffer, DeWitt Roosa, Walter P. Crane, William R. Harrison and David Burgevin.

If memory serves me correctly the society is still in existence, and the present president is Elmer Faler, the well known dealer in horses.

Jack Robins, who had been a member of the Kingston Colonials, since the team was first organized in 1921, was named to act as field captain for the 1923 season. Jack caught the majority of the games of the old Colonials, and was one of the best known ball players in this area. Matty Deegan, also a member of the original team, affixed his signature to a contract for the 1923 season.

Harry Lazarus, owner of the Pine Hill Theatre in Albany, in March, 1923, leased the Auditorium Theatre in the Y.M.C.A. building, and planned to take possession on May 1, of that year. For several seasons the theatre had been operated by the Hathaway interests, who controlled the old Kingston Opera House and the Keeney Theatre on Wall street.

Mr. Lazarus during the years he resided in Kingston was very active in civic affairs, and he was one of the prime movers in the erection of the present Broadway Theatre, and was in charge of the theatre when it was first opened.

He had a pleasing voice and was widely known as a soloist, singing at many meetings and affairs of local organizations during his years in Kingston.

Thaddeus O. Taylor died on February 12, 1923, in his home on Broadway, adjoining the old trolley car barn. In the years that have since elapsed the Taylor house and the old car barn have been demolished.

Mr. Taylor for a number of years was employed as a bookkeeper by Albert Mutterstock in his woodworking plant on lower Broadway, adjoining the Orpheum Theatre. He held the position until he retired from active work.

Fraternally he was a member of Bonded Lodge of Masons, a charter member of Bonded Commandery, and had served as past master of Mt. Herch Chapter.

Mr. Mutterstock, who died in 1923, was for years a widely known business man of the city, and his woodworking plant turned out a fine grade of goods, which were used in the construction of many houses in Kingston. He was also active in Trinity Methodist Church. Mr. Mutterstock for years operated an insurance business.

The U. S. S. Missouri has nine and a half acres of deck space and compares in size with an 18-story building, seven of the stories, on decks, being under water. Few hundred thousand pounds of paint are required to cover her.

Leaves From Boyle's

Notebook

Shanghai—(AP)—America's spick and span navy is still somewhat dazed from the impact made upon it by the Chinese central government troops it ferried to Formosa and North China.

These joint operations also have had their effect on Chiang Kai-Shek's tennis-shod soldiers.

"They certainly lead a different life from that of American troops," said Lt. Dale Boley, commander of an LST which made two lifts of the Chinese troops to Formosa. "But I'll say this for them—they were easily handled and would do anything you told them, if you could just get across what you wanted."

Boley sympathizes with China's landlubber army because until he landed into the navy two years ago he himself had never been in a vessel larger than an old fashioned hotel bathtub. When I last saw him 10 years ago he was a classmate and fraternity brother at the University of Missouri, getting hollow-eyed from love rurns and law books. Since then he became an attorney, the young lady relented and they have three children and a house in Kansas City—54 Aberdeen Road.

And now the navy is releasing him from further service among radar rays and offshore currents and sending him back to his old happy world of courts, suits in replevin, writs of mandamus and his houseful of boys.

During 17 months of sea duty aboard the 4,000-ton LST 627L, neither Boley nor his men suffered a scratch from combat or operational activities, although they shot down two Japanese planes and made battle landings on the Philippines and Okinawa, where they held the exposed right wing against kamikaze or suicide plane attacks.

But his experiences in shepherding Chinese occupation troops to Formosa are among his more vivid memories. Like the time Chinese officers smuggled aboard their wives disguised as nurses and 10-year-old sons as "buglers."

"They all got seasick in rough weather," Boley said, "and they ate so much rice we could smell it on the ship for weeks afterward."

"They cooked it on deck over charcoal fires in earthenware urns. During storms we had to take over for them and kept a 40-gallon boiler going 12 hours a day to keep their rice bowls full."

Because of numerous cases of dysentery among the troops and fear of a cholera outbreak, they were restricted aboard ship to the tank deck and the forward part of the main deck.

"They slept by the hundreds on straw mats laid on the bare iron deck," said Boley, "and every-time the ship rolled they got sick. It was something of an ordeal for us as well as them after they left the ship."

For in their first contact with American naval life scores of these farm boys and coolies in uniform were unable to distinguish between ordinary deck fixtures and plumbing equipment and it became necessary to string electric lights into all dark corners. The situation improved only after the Chinese army set up demonstration teams ashore to teach latrine lessons to new troops awaiting embarkment.

"One small group of 130 soldiers had two generals to lead them," Boley recalled. "We had them up to our window for turkey dinner and they kept repeating, 'ting hao, ting hao (excellent),' all through the meal. They didn't like the way we cook rice though."

As soon as he gets home Boley wants to give a military geography lesson to the naval officer procurement headquarters there.

"When I applied for a commission they assured me that with my age and administrative background, I would never have to go to sea," he said. "And I just want to ask them if they ever saw Shanghai, Okinawa and Manila listed on the map of the Kansas City Swipe Park lagoon."

Scuttling of Pearl Harbor Probe Would Be Great Mistake for Reputation of Late F. D. R.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 17—The inquiry by a joint committee of Congress into the Pearl Harbor fiasco has taken a strange twist. Although not so intended, the resignation of counsel and the withdrawal of Chairman Barkley has given the impression that some members would like to scuttle the whole thing. No greater mistake could be made either by the Democratic party in Congress or by the friends of the late President Roosevelt.

The nation has for nearly four years now heard a whispering campaign against Mr. Roosevelt. It has been carried on to some extent by isolationists and given further momentum by those who have been ready and willing to believe that Mr. Roosevelt would do anything to get himself elected and re-elected even if it meant maneuvering the United States into war. The thesis usually advanced is that because Mr. Roosevelt pledged in his political speeches that we would not enter the war "unless attacked," he contrived in some way to provoke the Japanese to attack either at Pearl Harbor or elsewhere in the Pacific.

Not a scintilla of evidence has been brought out thus far to support any such view but to stop the inquiry now or to muzzle it in any way would be to play right into the hands of those who have made the charges. It is important for history that the truth be ferreted out wherever it leads and whatever it implies. This correspondent does not believe Mr. Roosevelt will be convicted on the charges but nobody's opinion will be given credence if the inquiry folds up and the whispering campaign continues.

Part of the difficulty which the committee has encountered is the way the hearing has been conducted. An administration effort to choke off individual members from going through the files and records has merely resulted in a demand by the opposition that voluminous papers be presented. The lengthy examinations and cross-examinations are due to a fear on the part of some members that only evidence which points to the fact that exonerations will be introduced. Finally, when the records are dumped on the committee, some members claim they never have a chance to read and study them before they are presented. There is such a thing as messing up a hearing by confusion and if anybody maneuvered it that way he certainly has succeeded.

Thus for example the hearing has not yet finished with the War Department's part in the pre-Pearl Harbor events and now the inquiry turns this week to the Navy Department without hearing all the witnesses on the phase one again. This does not appear to be a systematic procedure.

Of what value is the hearing? Already there are those who would like to forget it and who hope to kill the inquiry by postponing it in the hope that the public will get sick of the story and members of Congress will vote to drop the matter. But while some cross-examinations have been too lengthy and in some instances unnecessarily harsh on the witnesses, as was the case at General Marshall, the whole truth must be permitted to come out if for no other reason than to give future classes at the Army War College and at the Naval War College the most comprehensive textbook ever written on the subject of how to kill 3,000 American boys through neglect, stupidity, red tape, and sheer incompetence in the military services upon which the nation depends for its security.

Also it makes important reading for the diplomatic service and the Department of State, on the subject of how to synchronize negotiations with preparations for the execution of our diplomatic notes. Also it teaches a well-learned lesson on the subject of open diplomacy so the people may know and incidentally the generals and admirals may read when a crisis is at hand. It ought to teach a lesson to Congress, too, on the subject of promptly supplying funds with which to maintain adequate defenses wherever the American flag flies. It is one of the most important investigations ever undertaken by a committee of Congress and even if it consumes several months' time for a few members of the Senate and House and eats up a few thousand dollars in costs, it is an insignificant price to pay to write a history and a post-mortem record that future statesmen, generals and admirals can read and re-read so that it may never happen again.

BULB LARVAE KILLED

A 12-hour pressure treatment for bulbs, developed by Dutch growers, is said to destroy the harmful larva of the narcissus fly, according to an announcement in The Hague. In a special kettle the bulbs are treated to a pressurized mixture of carbonic acid and oxygen. The oxygen compels the larvae to inhale the mixture, which is forced into the bulb by the pressure, and the carbonic acid kills the parasite. The discovery is important to the United States due to large shipments of Dutch narcissus bulbs to America.

CHRISTMAS PLANS
If winter the heart as Christmas bears
To know we have to suffer again
And after living better years
We share the joys of tomorrow.

These words he gave to his dear wife
And will become a major part
And through our tears . . . we all rejoice.

We've waited long for Christmas
With all the old familiar sights
As home and peace and cheer
Who play for stress . . . and Christmas lights

It might be Andy . . . or Jack
Who place an hour of great surprise
Perhaps the boy will come to back
Who always joy with your eyes.

Our Christmas plans are set
As we'll be glad to share
Our home and peace and cheer
Thank God for peace . . . with Christmas near.

Ceiling Rents May Be Ascertained on Proposed Homes

Prospective builders of rental homes and apartments in the Poughkeepsie defense rental area may ascertain the ceiling rents on the proposed new units before starting construction by submitting their building plans and specifications to the Area Rent Control Office, Charles C. Hoag, area rent director, said today.

The Office of Price Administration's plan to help speed revival of rental construction and maintain rent stabilization provides that rents on new units will be based on rents for comparable living quarters in the area, plus a due allowance for increases in building costs since 1939.

"The program should stimulate construction which is acutely needed in this area," Mr. Hoag said. "Our housing shortage can be relieved only through a volume of construction. In addition, construction is needed to provide jobs and help maintain a high level of employment."

"Building requests for advance rental ceilings that are accompanied by reasonably detailed plans will be processed at our office as rapidly as possible. We will do everything we can to clear the way so builders of rental housing can get construction under way without delay."

"At the same time it is vital that prospective tenants of these units, many of whom will be veterans, are protected from the inflationary rents that would result if rents were uncontrolled. Wild bidding by home-seekers would send rents soaring during this acute housing shortage. O. P. A.'s program will prevent this by allowing builders rent increases that reflect only actual construction cost increases during the emergency."

Mr. Hoag explained that during the war years on new construction were fixed by the National Housing Administration at the same time that priorities were issued under war production order L-41. These N. H. A. rents became the maximum rents under O. P. A. regulations. Abandonment of L-41 on October 15 made it necessary for O. P. A. to fix maximum rents for new construction directly, and resulted in a portion of the present formula for figuring cost increases, which became effective November 23.

Record-Holding Plane Crashes in Maryland

Washington, Dec. 17 (AP)—Just eight days after it set a new Long Beach-to-Washington air record the Army's "Mix-Master" experimental bomber crashed to destruction at nearby Oxon Hill, Md., yesterday.

The three crew members parachuted to safety. The propeller-in-tail design, the XB-42 was on a routine flight from Bolling Field Army Air Base.

The highly streamlined craft averaged 432 miles an hour in the five-hour, 17-minute flight from Long Beach, December 8.

Officials of the Douglas Aircraft Company which built the Mix-Master said at Santa Monica that a second model has been made for the Army.

Memorial

In memory of our mother, Mrs. Bertha Reynolds Thornhill, who left us one year ago.

"This day brings back memories of a loved one gone to rest. Dear to those who loved her, Not lost, just gone to rest. She did not leave her last farewell. She waved her hand to none. Her spirit flew before we knew That she from us had gone. The flowers we placed upon her grave.

May wither and decay. But love for her who sleeps beneath Shall never fade away.

jured, some with critical hurts, up the 12-foot embankment along the tracks. Passing motorists were halted and asked to play their headlights on the wreckage.

It was in the light of these headlights and emergency flares that the rescuers treated the injured and searched through the snarled coaches.

Servicemen among the injured were taken to the nearby Laurensburg-Maxton Army Air Field in North Carolina. Other injured were taken to hospitals in various towns in the area, where Red Cross representatives were sent to aid in caring for the hospitalized cases.

Approximately 200 survivors of the wreck went on to New York, arriving there at 5 a. m. today. Joseph Federica of Rye, N. Y., a discharged Navy coxswain, who was returning on the Sun Queen with his wife, Andy, and son, Wade, four years old, said on arriving in New York that his family was in a coach, two cars behind the one most damaged. Late Bulletins

Heidelberg, Germany, Dec. 17 (AP)—Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., sat up in his hospital bed today for the first time since his accident eight days ago and Army authorities said he was "getting well like a house afire."

The U. S. 15th Army commander, who had said "this is a hell of a way to die" after an automobile crash rendered him almost totally paralyzed, was throwing off the paralysis suffered by injury to his spinal cord with speed, reminiscent of his wartime adventures.

One Army official said Patton's recovery was "amazing" and "only old Blood and Guts could come out of it the way he did."

Three Airmen Wonder Where 666th Has Gone

Yokohama, Dec. 17 (AP)—Three bewildered American airmen are stranded at Atsugi airfield with an airplane that won't fly. They don't know what they are going to do because their outfit has broken up.

They were aboard the C-47 cargo carrier "Tokyo Express" which roared up from Leyte November 29. The roar turned into a groan over Osaka but one good engine got them to Atsugi.

They couldn't get parts for the plane, so the pilots hitch-hiked back to Leyte, leaving the enlisted crewmen with the ship. The crewmen's original orders specified they always must stick with the plane.

So Cpl. Carl Schaefer, flight engineer; Cpl. Robert Lancaster, radio operator, and Cpl. Glenn Flaim (hometowns unavailable) started playing nursemaid to the plane. They slept in it by night and searched unsuccessfully for parts by day.

Then, says Schaefer, from all he can learn the 666th Troop Carrier Squadron broke up. Radiograms to Leyte went unanswered.

Wary of the cold, the plane and C rations, the boys finally found a buddy who broke out a bed for them in a basement and got them some food.

Freed from his winged billet, Schaefer now wants to know "where or where has my 666th gone?" He has 78 points.

CHRISTMAS PLANS

If winter the heart as Christmas bears
To know we have to suffer again
And after living better years
We share the joys of tomorrow.

These words he gave to his dear wife
And will become a major part
And through our tears . . . we all rejoice.

We've waited long for Christmas
With all the old familiar sights
As home and peace and cheer
Who play for stress . . . and Christmas lights

It might be Andy . . . or Jack
Who place an hour of great surprise
Perhaps the boy will come to back
Who always joy with your eyes.

Our Christmas plans are set
As we'll be glad to share
Our home and peace and cheer
Thank God for peace . . . with Christmas near.

Cigar Company Gives Annual Christmas Party at Two Hotels

The annual Christmas party and dinner of the employees and officials of G. W. Van Slyke and Horton cigar factory was held Saturday evening. It was one of the most largely attended and most successful in a long series of annual affairs. In order that all could attend the dinner it was necessary to use both the Governor Clinton Hotel and the Stuyvesant Hotel; at the Clinton 300 were served and at the Stuyvesant, 60.

Those who had their dinner at the Stuyvesant Hotel returned to the Governor Clinton where the program of speaking and the annual awarding of prizes were made.

One of the highlights of the evening was the announcement of President Benjamin Schwartz that commencing Christmas Day, all of the employees thereafter would have six legal holidays each year for which they would be paid. "This is not only for next year," said Mr. Schwartz, "but for the duration of the Peter Schuyler cigar."

Mr. Schwartz called attention to the fact that the demand for Peter Schuyler cigars far exceeded the available supply, and he urged every employee during the coming year to exert every effort to manufacture as many Schuylers as possible so that the demand could be met.

Superintendent Albert S. Mason presided as toastmaster at the dinner, and introduced Capt. Marvin Schwartz, son of the president of the concern, who had recently received his honorable discharge after four years in the service. Captain Schwartz spoke briefly and congratulated the workers on the success of party, as did Mayor W. F. Edelmuth, who has been a guest at all the annual parties.

The mayor pointed out that he still considered himself a member of the Schuyler family, since he had served 23 years as salesman for the concern.

Superintendent Mason, in his annual address to the workers said: "Tonight we celebrate victory, and because of this victory, we celebrate Christmas in a world at peace." He paid a tribute to the fighting men and women on the battlefronts during the World War, and also to those who served on the home front.

"May this peaceful Christmas," he said, "be the merriest you have had in many years."

PRIZES AWARDED
At the close of the speaking program prizes were awarded. The nine employees who were awarded War Bonds were Lucinda Tiano, Mary Buboltz Day, Anna Carter, Samuel Williams, Richard Korth, Mary Brazee, Adelaide Komosa, Veronica Buckman and Edward Klingner.

The gala event was brought to a close with dancing to the music of Paul A. Zucca and his orchestra.

Better Bowling

By Billy Sixty

Left Hand Help: The right hand does the handling of the bowling ball, as far as gripping, swinging and delivering it goes, but the left hand also does its part as the stance is taken, and it is of great importance.

The ball should be placed in the palm of the left hand (see illustration) approximately even with or slightly below the chest. The position of the left hand, whether held chest high or below the waist line, as in the case of a crouch in assuming the stance, is pretty much a matter of individual choice.

By palming the ball in the left hand, the right (action) hand is relieved of the weight of the ball. More than that, however, with the left hand holding the ball it is simple to fit the right hand into the holes perfectly and to get the proper and comfortable finger spread on the ball at all times, without tension. It does away with gripping the ball too hard, or "pinching" it, which inevitably leads to blisters and affects the rhythm and smoothness of the swing.

Also, the help of the left hand in holding the ball as the stance is taken makes it possible to hold the right hand in approximately the same position (mechanical), it is called) and to vary the position for changing alley conditions and for different "angle shots" in making spares.

More later. The important thing at the moment is to put the left hand to work in a relief measure to save wear and tear on the "good neighbor"—the action hand!

For Auto Racers

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 17 (AP)—Prize money totaling $100,000 will be distributed during 1946 to big car auto racing drivers by representatives of five tracks located in the east and mid-west, says Roy Richwine, owner and operator of the nearby Williams Grove Speedway.

The five tracks that combined to place auto racing on a big time basis were Winchester, Ind.; Dayton, Ohio; Thompson, Conn.; Fort Wayne, Ind.; and Williams Grove.

The first race officially sanctioned by the contest board of the American Automobile Association will be held at Williams Grove on April 14.

Fort Worth Open

Taken by Nelson, Los Angeles Bound

By HAROLD V. RATCLIFF

Fort Worth, Texas, Dec. 17 (AP)—Lord Byron Nelson, golf's superlative, went back to the farm today but the stay will be brief. He's going to invest his first place money in the Fort Worth open tournament in a tractor then rejoin the nation's links tourists at Los Angeles to start the P.G.A.'s new year.

The tall stylist from Denton, Texas, hurried to an eleven-under-par 273 yesterday to win the Fort Worth Open in a breeze. He finished eight strokes ahead of another Texan, Jimmie Demaret of Houston, back in golf's big time after a hitch in the navy. Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Sanford, Me., who shot a six-under-par 65 in yesterday's last round, was third with 282, while E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Little Rock was fourth with 283.

Nelson, who took a two-months' vacation from golf after winning 18 tournaments, returned to the links at Glen Garden Country Club where he got his start as a caddy. He announced that he would be back on the tournament schedule with both feet after missing seven meets.

Lord Byron now has been a money-winner in 102 consecutive tournaments over a period of four years and this year ran his total winnings to $86,600 in war bonds. McSpaden finished in second place with $34,200 and Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., who tied for seventh in the Fort Worth Open yesterday, was the third man in the money race with total winnings of $27,425.

Golfers on the P.G.A. tour will return to their homes for the Christmas holidays. The next tournament—the Los Angeles Open—is January 4-7.

Fred Corran, tournament manager of the P.G.A., announced that a half million dollars in cash already has been assured for the golfers to shoot for in 1946. This year the boys played for $375,000.

Richardson Chosen
For the Third Term

Williamsport, Pa., Dec. 17 (AP)—Thomas H. Richardson, president of the Eastern League, has been re-elected chairman of the executive committee of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues for the third consecutive term.

Richardson, who also holds the chairmanship of the minor league committee invested with the responsibility of helping to draw up a new major-minor agreement, said that the next meeting of the minor leagues would likely be in Los Angeles in 1946.

The choice of the convention site rests with the executive committee, composed of Clarence "Pants" Rowland, president of the Pacific Coast League, Herman D. Weiss, president of the Northern League, and Richardson.

Gene Tunney Is Building President

Stamford, Conn., Dec. 17 (AP)—Gene Tunney, the former heavyweight champion, is listed as president of the Stamford Building Company in incorporation papers filed over the week-end at the town clerk's office.

The firm, he said, will concentrate on small, moderately priced dwellings.

"I have just spent five years in the Navy building men; and now I want to spend as much of my available time as possible constructing homes," he said.

Arthur M. Starck, a neighbor of Tunney and president of the Unique Window Sash Company of New York, is secretary-treasurer and general manager of the new company; and the third incorporator is John J. Ryan of New York.

Rams Win Pro Grid Title

Tripping Redskins 15-14

By SID FEDER

Cleveland, Dec. 17 (AP)—It was a matter for argument today whether it was too little or too much Sammy Baugh that enabled Cleveland's rah-rah-Rams to hang up their first National Professional Football League championship as well as the title of "world's best icicles in football suits."

Sammy opened up the ball game yesterday and in the first quarter threw a gamble pass from his end zone that bounced back for a Rams' safety when the goal posts got in the way of it. This bound was the edge that gave the Rams their 15 to 14 photo-finish decision over the Washington Redskins, who are known to the trade as Baugh & Co.

Slinging Samuel left the game with an injured side shortly after that "one pitch too many" and reappeared only for a few minutes in the second half. Since it is well known that the Washington attack percolates only as Samuel goes on those B-29 raids, the Redskins didn't have much chance with him out of there, especially against a hot club that was three to four points the favorite going to the post.

Frank Score
The safety was probably as freaky a score as ever was made in football, amateur, pro or "catch as catch can" but it was two points and enough to decide it. After winging Bob Waterfield, who signed a three-year Rams contract only a few hours before the game, threw two touchdown passes.

One of these was for 38 yards to his pet battery-mate Arkansas Jim Benton and the other covered 45 yards to Jim Gillette, a 185-pounder who showed that a Virginian can stay pretty hot even when the thermometer is reaching up to hit zero.

The Redskins countered with a couple touchdown passes of their own. Indiana Frank Filchok, relief hurler for Baugh, flipped these to Jack Rabbitt Steve Bagarus, seat-back from Notre Dame, and Oklahoma Bob Seymour. As a matter of fact, if it hadn't been for the safety, these Redskins would have turned the trick 14 to 13 for Waterfield, missed one of his two extra-point tries, while Joe (Hot-Toe) Aquilino clicked on his pair of placements.

The Rams won their icicle title simply by finishing on top on the rock-hard Cleveland Municipal Stadium gridiron that would have made a dandy hockey rink. And the general impression around and about was that the National Football League sooner or later must move its annual title playoff up from mid-December or else give it to the Eskimos.

Greenwich Police Capture Five Men

Pursued Auto Crashes Into Hydrant; Held Up Dice Game

Greenwich, Conn., Dec. 17 (AP)—Sunday afternoon motorists and pedestrians were startled yesterday when several police cars sped through some of the main streets of this town pursuing an automobile in a chase which ended when the fleeing car hit a hydrant, tossing out its five occupants who police said, were wanted in connection with a Stamford dice game holdup.

The two fugitives who were uninjured started to run away, but shots from police quickly brought them to a halt. Sergeant John J. Bryson said they were booked on bench of the peace charges, and held for the Stamford police without bail. The other three were taken to Greenwich Hospital where attendants reported none was critically hurt. Sergeant Bryson said the two held at headquarters identified themselves as Angelo J. Esposito, 32, and Salvatore J. Gallella, 28, both of Brooklyn, and that those at the hospital gave the names of Onofrio Tricario, 34, of Jamaica.

N. Y., and Frank Vitale, 31, and Peter Sulzano, 30, both of Brooklyn.

The chase started when a group of men came to a police booth here, and told officers they were following a car driven by men who had held them up in Stamford. Greenwich police cars immediately were alerted by radio. Sergeant Daniel Hanahan, of the Stamford police, said a dice game was held up yesterday at 2 p. m. in a dilapidated shack in an isolated area on the west side of the city.

About 15 men were lined up against the wall, he said, by five gunmen, two of whom climbed through the shack's one window as the other three burst through the door.

The sergeant said the victims estimated their loss at $3,000, but that the amount of money recovered was considerably less than that.

Programs Will Begin
This evening the first in a series of Christmas Cheer programs will be given over the local radio station, and each evening through Friday at 8 o'clock, local talent will appear on the program. Thruway Would Be Memorial to State World War 2 Dead

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 17 (AP)—"New York State Memorial Thruway"—in honor of the state's dead of World War II—was suggested today as a name for the $202,000,000, 486-mile project scheduled to begin next spring.

Charles H. Sells, superintendent of Public Works, pointing out that the planned highway route has no official name, said the suggestion was made to him by friends.

"We've been referring to the system as the New York State Thruway," he added, "and actually even that is something of a misnomer. The project really is a collection of short-haul routes connecting the principal cities of the state."

"It is not purely a New York to Buffalo express highway, and most people probably will use it for much less than that. But I suppose some legislation will be needed to set up an official name."

Sells commented after his attention was drawn to an article in the current edition of the State Labor Department's monthly magazine, "Industrial Bullets," which repeatedly referred to the whole project as "The Niagara Thruway."

The thruway will consist of sections named Erie, Niagara, Ontario, Mohawk, Catskill, Bepshire, and New England. It will run from New York to west of Buffalo via Albany, with spurs to New England and Niagara Falls.

that the Emperor's abdication before the occupation was discussed and Akihito was being groomed as ruler under a regency. The plan was abandoned when the Allied attitude indicated relative leniency toward Hirohito.

Discussion of the Emperor and whether he is responsible for the war, something unthinkable until recently, has consumed several hours in the Diet.

Furthermore, Konoye and other high ranking Japanese—probably unwittingly—have disclosed in interviews that Hirohito attended key meetings which determined upon the Pacific war and therefore knew as much about the plans as cabinet members. At the outset of the occupation, government officials had insisted that the Emperor was uninformed of such plans.

Hirohito could resign either because of illness, which would precipitate a regency, or by ordering the swift writing of special household laws. If he supplied the impetus, the present lack of any suitable method for abdication could be remedied quickly.

Konoye certainly has supplied a precedent for Hirohito declining to share the "humiliation" of a war trial.

LaGuardia Has Three Jobs on His Program

New York, Dec. 17 (AP)—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia now has three jobs lined up when he leaves office December 31.

The mayor announced yesterday that the Sunday noon broadcasts he has been making to New York residents for three years would be continued after he becomes a private citizen. They will be made over Station WJZ instead of city-owned WNYC, as in the past, and will be sponsored by the June Dairy Company of Wisconsin.

It had been announced previously that he would broadcast on the coast-to-coast American Broadcasting Company Network every Sunday night for Liberty Magazine and would write a weekly article for the newspaper P.M.

He reportedly will receive $100,000 for the network program. Salary of the other jobs has not been announced.

lective intervention was aimed squarely at the Buenos Aires militarists.

Assistant Secretary of State Spruille Braden, whose contempt for those militarists is widely known, emerged from a conference with Mr. Truman Saturday to predict the Americas would adopt Uruguay's proposal. Applying it to Argentina might be the next step.

As for Franco's Spain, the return to Washington of Ambassador Norman Armour apparently will end a phase of American relations with that country. There are no plans to replace Armour, who is retiring from the diplomatic service.

High School Boys Present at State Capitol Parley

Two Kingston High School seniors, Martin Lodge and John Ostrander, attended the Hi-Y state government conference at Albany over the week-end. Lodge was assigned to the State Senate and Ostrander to the Assembly.

Friday afternoon, the boys attended a joint-meeting of Senate and Assembly where the group was addressed by Mr. Shinn, state director of Hi-Y, and State Comptroller Moore. The group was told of laws that were passed by Hi-Y state governments which later became state laws. They were welcomed to the capitol, and told that the state should be glad that the youth were interested in government.

Following this meeting, the Kingston boys adjourned to the separate chambers of the Assembly and Senate. Ostrander served on the Labor Industry Committee, while Lodge was a member of the Senate Committee of Tax and Insurance. Bills such as "Make All Pensions Received by Citizens of New York State Exempt From State Income Tax" and "That Injuries Received by Interscholastic Athletes in School Athletic Events Be Compensated by the State" were among those discussed at committee meetings.

Following the Friday sessions, there was a dance at the Hotel Wellington.

Crossing Bill Loses
Saturday was spent in committee and House meetings in which bills were discussed and voted upon. The bill concerning the Broadway crossing which was introduced by the local delegates was referred to the committee on Health and Safety where it was discarded on the grounds that the matter was purely sectional since only a few remote towns in the state had railroads running through the center of the city. Since neither of the local boys were on the committee to argue in its favor, the bill lost out.

Although their bill was cast out, both of these boys returned home with a greater knowledge of how the state government is run which was the main purpose of the conference.

Comfortable Night At Army Hospital

Heidelberg, Germany, Dec. 17 (AP)—Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., passed a comfortable night in a U. S. Army Hospital here, and "preparations are being made to substitute cast immobilization for traction," Army doctors said today.

The commander of the U. S. 15th Army is recovering from a broken neck suffered in an automobile accident eight days ago.

Text of the Army's midday bulletin:

"Temperature 98.8 degrees, pulse 60, respiration 20. Gen. Patton had a comfortable night. Preparations are being made to substitute cast immobilization for traction."

Army medical specialists said yesterday Patton apparently was winning a battle to throw off paralysis—he was slowly regaining the feeling in his numbed limbs and his broken neck was mending. Mrs. Patton spent most of yesterday with her husband. Prayers were said for the General in the chapel of the hospital.
